

LOOP CAPITAL MARKETS
SEC RULE 606 DISCLOSURES

SEC Rule 606 promulgated under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 requires broker-dealers that route customer orders in equity and option securities to publish quarterly reports (“606 Reports”) that provide an overview of the broker-dealer’s order routing practices.

The 606 Reports disclose, among other things, information on the broker-dealer’s routing of “non-directed orders.” Each section of the 606 Report identifies which venues Loop Capital Markets (“LCM” or the “Firm”) selected to route its customer orders; setting forth the various types of orders and percentages thereof routed to such venues. The Firm does not engage in options trading and therefore did not route any options trades for execution.

LCM Standard Order Routing System (MPID – LOOP) – See Attachment A
LCM Alternate Order Routing System (MPID – LCMC) – See Attachment B

The SEC has interpreted Rule 606 to allow a single broker-dealer to prepare two or more 606 Reports that correspond to functional differences in the broker-dealer’s routing practices, so long as the separate 606 Reports provide a clearer picture of the broker-dealer’s routing practices and the basis for the separate 606 Reports is fully disclosed to customers and the public. Accordingly, LCM has decided to prepare separate 606 Reports as the Firm believes that separating its 606 Reports will provide its customers and the public with a clearer picture of its routing practices. Generally, if a customer routes an order to LCM’s Institutional Equity Trading Desk, the appropriate 606 Report reflecting LCM’s Standard Order Routing System (MPID – LOOP) will provide an overview of the Firm’s routing practices related such orders. If a customer has coordinated with LCM to use an alternative order routing system, the appropriate 606 Report reflecting LCM Alternate Order Routing System (MPID – LCMC) will provide an overview of the Firm’s routing practices as it pertains to such orders.

LCM believes there is no material aspect regarding the Firm’s relationships with any execution venue requiring disclosure on the 606 Reports provided herein.
